In Snapology's Animal Explorers class, students will learn where animals live and why an animal's habitat is important for survival. Through stories, games, and building animals with DUPLO® blocks, your little learner will be busy exploring biomes of the world while gaining critical social and developmental skills without even realizing it!

This week from the Snoqualmie Tribe Ancestral Lands Movement:

Washington State’s legislative session is underway, and there is an opportunity for you to show support for Washington State Parks & Recreation Commission, Washington

Department of Fish & Wildlife and Washington State Department of Natural Resources to get the funding necessary to care for Snoqualmie Tribe Ancestral Lands and other lands throughout the State that are being heavily impacted by recreation.

From the petition organizers Washington Trails Association: Despite growing use of state lands, the maintenance backlog has continued to increase while funding has remained static. State agencies estimate that the cost of the current backlog on state lands is $50 million to $75 million annually. With more people getting outside, the impacts are noticeable – campgrounds, trails, roads, toilets and other facilities are in critical need of repairs and upgrades.
